Reference Citation Analysis (RCA, <https://www.referencecitationanalysis.com>) is committed to building the world's only open access and transparent biomedical science sharing platform focusing on citation analysis. RCA can find and obtain the latest research results published in biomedical science journals through the ranking of Article Influence Index of each article, which will lead researchers towards more important research directions. RCA is independently developed and maintained by Baishideng Publishing Group Inc (Party B). As of July 2023, RCA has included more than 53.6 million articles in the field of biomedical science and 6113 high-quality RCA journals, including more than 4.53 million full-text PDF articles and covering 121 research fields. There are currently 876 RCA scholar users, 14 RCA academic assistant users, and more than 48000 subscribers.

Party A, as the entrusting party, and Party B, as the service-providing party, through harmonious negotiation, have reached the following contract terms on issues of providing RCA academic assistant service by Party B in its RCA network platform (<https://www.referencecitationanalysis.com/searchacademicassistant>) for Party A and other matters, for both parties to abide by.

I Content of RCA academic assistant service

The content of RCA academic assistant service includes: (1) Basic membership service; (2) Quality brand recommendation; (3) Maintaining and proofreading the bibliographic information of users' articles, and providing download service for statistics and analysis tables of Science Citation Index Expanded (SCIE)-indexed articles, PubMed-indexed articles, and the articles of a particular first author or corresponding author.

Party B's regulations or requirements for external links, Party B has the right to suspend the release of the relevant network information and request Party A to provide the information that meets the requirements again.

3 Party A undertakes a commitment not to publish false information. If it is confirmed that Party A publishes false information, Party B shall have the right to stop publishing such information. If the circumstance is serious, Party B shall have the right to terminate the contract without refund.

4 Party A shall properly keep the user account of the RCA website. Party A shall bear the losses and corresponding liabilities caused by the theft of the account password caused by Party A. Party A may immediately contact Party B for assistance in resetting the account password. If Party A hands over or lends Party A's account to an unaffiliated company or other individual for use, once confirmed by Party B, Party B has the right to suspend Party A's eligibility to use or terminate the contract without refund.

5 Party A shall comply with national and local laws, rules, regulations, and policies when conducting business. If Party A engages in any illegal or irregular activities using the service hereof after signing this contract, Party B shall have the right to directly disable the account and terminate the service without refund.

6 Party A shall make payment to Party B as agreed herein. In case of delay in payment, Party B shall have the right to delay starting the service.

7 If Party A violates this Article and causes losses to Party B, Party A shall compensate Party B for such losses (including but not limited to direct losses, attorneys' fees, settlement funds for resolving disputes, compensation, litigation costs, etc.).

8 For the service hereunder, Party A shall be obliged to provide Party B with the necessary materials required for releasing the relevant information. If the materials provided by Party A are delayed, the project delivery time shall be delayed accordingly, and Party B shall not be liable for breach of contract. Both parties shall renegotiate the launch time as permitted by Party B's schedule.

9 If the contract service includes document information proofreading service, Party B shall calculate the service fee bill every 6 months according to the actual number of articles for which the service has been used by Party A and send it to Party A. If Party A has any objection to the bill sent by Party B, Party A shall negotiate with Party B within 3 working days upon receipt of the bill; otherwise, Party A shall be deemed to have accepted the service charge bill calculated by Party B and shall pay the service charge in the bill to the account designated by Party B within 10 working days.

V Rights and obligations of Party B

1 Party B reserves the right to interpret the service contents hereof, and Party A confirms knowledge of the details of each service content when signing this contract. If the service cannot be used during the service period due to reasons not attributable to Party B, the relevant service shall not be refunded or extended upon the expiration of the contract.

2 Party B shall provide Party A with the service agreed herein in accordance with the contract, and review and maintain Party A's registration information.

3 Party B shall ensure the normal operation of the website providing service. If any technical adjustment affects the service of the website for more than 24 hours, Party B shall notify Party A in advance and postpone the affected service time.

4 During the service period, if Party A's information is complained about and Party B confirms that the information provided by Party A violates the provisions of Article IV hereof, Party B has the right to stop providing service to Party A.

bribery and corruption in any form will violate the law and will be severely punished by law.

2 Neither party hereto shall ask, accept, provide, or give any benefits not agreed herein from the other party or the other party's handlers or other relevant personnel, including but not limited to explicit deduction, hidden deduction, cash, gift cards, goods, marketable securities, travel, or other non-material benefits.

IX Change, transfer, and termination

1 This contract may be modified or supplemented in writing upon mutual agreement of both parties.

2 Neither party shall transfer or subcontract its rights and obligations hereunder to a third party without the permission of either party.

3 Either party may terminate the contract in advance under any circumstance stipulated herein or upon mutual agreement reached by both parties through negotiation; otherwise, neither party may terminate the contract in advance.

X Force majeure

If the parties fail to perform this contract as agreed due to force majeure such as war, earthquake, lightning strike, flood, fire, government act, hacker attack, technical control of telecommunications department, etc., the performance hereof shall be extended, and neither party shall be liable for any loss caused by the delay. If the performance of this contract is delayed for more than 1 month due to force majeure events, either party hereof shall have the right to immediately terminate this contract by notifying the other party in writing without liability for breach of the contract. The affected party shall notify the other party by email as soon as possible after the occurrence of force majeure and provide the other party with all relevant materials in the fastest manner.

XI Liability for breach

1 If Party A violates this contract, Party B shall have the right to rescind the contract and shall not refund the fees paid by Party A but not yet performed hereunder. If Party A's breach of the contract causes losses to Party B, Party A shall compensate Party B for such losses (including but not limited to direct losses, attorneys' fees, settlement funds for resolving disputes, compensation, litigation costs, etc.).

2 If Party B violates this contract and fails to provide Party A with the service agreed herein, Party A shall have the right to terminate this contract in advance, and Party B shall refund the fees paid by Party A but not yet performed hereunder. Party B shall compensate Party A in full for any losses caused to Party A by Party B's breach of this contract (including but not limited to direct losses, attorneys' fees, settlement funds for resolving disputes, compensation, litigation costs, etc.).

3 If Party A requests to terminate this contract in advance for reasons not agreed to in this contract, Party B shall not refund the fees paid by Party A but not yet performed hereunder, and Party A shall pay liquidated damages at 10% of the total contract amount.

4 If Party B requests to terminate this contract in advance for reasons not agreed to in this contract, Party B shall refund the fees paid by Party A but not yet performed hereunder and pay liquidated damages equal to 10% of the total contract amount.

XII Dispute resolution

In the event of any dispute or dispute arising out of this contract, both parties shall reach an agreement through consultation in the principle of harmonious cooperation. If no settlement can be reached through consultation, either party shall have the right to bring a lawsuit to the people's court where the plaintiff is located.
